Where All the People Go. A STRONG CLUE.

Suspected Murderers of Miss Ayres.

The Brighton, Cal., Telegraph Operator.

Arrested Yesterday Afternoon at Auburn.

A Gold Watch Believed to Belong to the Murdered Girl is Found on One of Them.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 31.—[Associated Press.]—Officers are still searching for clues to the murders of Miss E. O. Ayres, operator and station agent at Brighton. Men are hunting in the hills of Sacramento, Eldorado and Placer counties.

Word was received this morning from Auburn that Sheriff Conroy had arrested two young men at that place last night on suspicion. While they were at the depot he saw one of them passing a watch to the other and he took them into custody. While on the way to jail one of them jumped from the buggy and escaped. The names of the men are Ed Brady and Harry Wagner, who reside in this city. The latter escaped. When taken to jail Brady had in his possession a lady's gold watch and locket, a silver watch and a gold buckle. He claims the gold watch was given him by an uncle in Eldorado county, but there is reason to believe the missing gold watch is Miss Ayres'.

Brady belongs to a band of young fellows who frequently figure before the police court of this city. Sheriff Conroy will keep him in jail at Auburn until further developments.

An Editor Honored.

Saturday all his brethren of The Public Ledger, of Philadelphia, united in giving a reception at the Drexel institute in honor of Colonel M. Richards Muckle. The colonel is one of the oldest and most popular members of The Ledger family. He has been in its service for half a century, and the reception was in graceful recognition of that fact. A German by descent, although born in Philadelphia, he has always been prominent in efforts for the welfare of the Germans.

For this work, and especially for assisting in the restoration of the Strasburg library, which was destroyed in the Franco-Prussian war, he was twice decorated by the old Emperor William—once with the ribbon and the patent of the Order of the Crown, and again with that of the Black Eagle, which is only conferred upon kings and foreign potentates. He has the distinction of being the only native American to be thus ennobled.—New York Tribune.

THE UMBRIA.

The Big Cunarder Arrives in Port at Last.

More Than Twice Her Time in Crossing.

Disabled Three Days Out From Queenstown.

A Sister Steamer of the Same Line Disregarded Her Signal for Assistance and Passed by.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—[Associated Press.]—The long overdue Cunard steamer Umbria was sighted at Fire Island shortly after midnight and arrived off quarantine at 3:30 this morning, and after inspection steamed slowly up the bay to the dock with all on board well. It is twelve days since she left Queenstown, the longest time on record for ocean racers. Though the weather was tempestuous most of the time from the beginning of the voyage, all went well till the afternoon of December 22, when a fracture was discovered in the shaft and the machinery stopped off the Bank of New Foundland and Engineer Tomlinson set about the difficult task of mending the break. After drifting twelve hours the Steamer Bohemia of the Hamburg-American line, bound from New York to Bremen, hove in sight, and in response to signals turned about, attached a big steel hawser to the Umbria and began to tow her to her destination. The weather was extremely rough and in the night after having towed the disabled vessel 75 miles the hawser broke and the vessel parted company in the darkness. When day dawned over the Umbria the Bohemia was not to be seen. After drifting three days to the southeast the Umbria started again with her old machinery and came on in fine weather at half speed to her destination.

The first intimation the passengers had that there had been an accident was after dinner on Friday although the engineer had been watching the shaft with anxiety for forty-eight hours and the machinery twice stopped the previous night for inspection. The steamer came to a standstill during dinner on Friday and a little later Captain McKay entered the smoking room and announced to the gentlemen the fact of the breakdown and added, "The ship is in no danger." The steamer Manahasset and the Gallia, a sister ship of the Umbria passed later. The captain of the Umbria signalled the Manahasset that he required no assistance supposing the Gallia would come to his aid and save the prize money.

To the astonishment and disgust of everybody on board, the Gallia in response to the signal that the Umbria was disabled and needed assistance answered back "Can't stand by; carrying mails," and steamed off.

By this time some of the passengers began to show dissatisfaction and kicked and called a meeting to demand that something be done, but the majority of the passengers were satisfied that everything would be done that could be done and the meeting came to nothing. On Tuesday notice was posted that the steamer would start that evening. About half past eight the machinery began to move and from that on until the end of the journey continued to revolve slowly but staunchly bringing the great ship safely to shore.

Y. M. C. A. Gospel Meetings.

The first active work of the recently organized Y. M. C. A. will be begun this afternoon at the Washington street M. E. Church. A series of Sunday afternoon gospel meetings will be instituted. The meetings will begin at 3 o'clock and will continue one hour. All are cordially invited to be present at the meeting this afternoon. The services will consist of singing and short addresses.

A Live Wire, a Dead Man.

NAPA, CAL., Dec. 31.—Baptista Pipayina, an Italian aged 25 years, was instantly killed on Friday night by touching a live electric wire. Pipayina made a wager with another Italian that no injury would result from touching the wires, when he attempted to fulfill the wager and was instantly killed. The only apparent wound was a slight burn on the finger.

After Them in Earnest.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 31.—In view of the threatening situation on the Mexican border here a more active campaign will soon begin. This is deduced from the fact that word came from an apparently reliable source that the commissary of the subsistence department was making extensive preparations for feeding troops.

Two Ways of Taming Horses.

What is announced as being a trial of the relative merits as horse tamers of Leon, of Australia, and Sample, of America, was commenced in the theater adjoining the Westminster aquarium the other evening. A committee of between forty and fifty gentlemen, including military men, veterinary surgeons and others, has been formed to supervise the affair, and it is intended to award the winner a prize of $100. A number of intractable and vicious horses, or horses suffering from other defects of temper, will be submitted to the rival tamers, and the committee will decide as to which, in the words of Professor Atkinson, most nearly conforms to the requirements of simplicity, humanity and practicability. Owing to various causes last night's demonstration was of a rather restricted character.

Each man "handled," as the term is, two horses, and with, from his own point of view, success. Leon's system of "taming," as is perhaps generally known, consists in the subjection of the animal to be operated on by an ingenious and most effective arrangement of bits, gags and cords, while Sample, after securely boxing up his patient, brings him into close proximity with a steam engine, and having familiarized him with its noises while under restraint, afterward drives him right up to it. Both men gave demonstrations of their respective methods with a fair amount of success, and it is understood the committee will award points nightly and give their decision at the end of the fortnight.—London Telegraph.

Sour Florida Oranges.

If they only knew it the Florida growers are hurting their market by sending sour, unripe fruit. For weeks after these oranges appear in the market they are a disappointment to buyers and injure the reputation which Florida oranges gained and can easily keep under suitable conditions.—Hartford Courant.

The Speed Exhibition Closes.

The series of speed exhibitions begun several weeks ago by W. M. Billup ended yesterday afternoon, much good having been accomplished. Roydell yesterday went to beat 2:33, which he accomplished by 5 1/2 seconds. Mary B. by Almont Patchen, a pacer, 2:15, went to beat 2:30, and made the mile in 2:27. Medial, two-year-old, went against 2:54, and completed the mile in 2:46. Electra Mont, yearling, out of Cyclone, by Tilton Almont, set a 3:12 mark for Salt River valley yearlings. The horses were all driven by James Malurny.

PERSONAL.

Commercial hotel guests yesterday were Chas. B. Kehrman, St. Louis and C. H. Wykes, Texas.

There were registered at the Mills house yesterday, H. O. Jackson, Florence, J. G. Baxter, Trinidad, Colo., Alex McKay, Tucson.

Mrs. Newton Hackney returned yesterday from her homestead south of Mesa and is stopping with her daughter Mrs. Prentice Phillips at Jefferson and Yavapai streets.

Prof. Wollam and Prof. Barnes returned yesterday from a hunting expedition and will in consequence of the attendant exercise enter upon their school duties next Tuesday morning with increased vigor.

THE FIRST AND THE LAST

Official Duties of Justice W. O. Huson.

Taken Together Do They Prove That Suicide Is Being Succeeded by Matrimony?

The last official act of Justice Huson was the performance of a marriage ceremony last night, seven hours before midnight, when he became a private citizen. It is singularly coincident as to time, that his first official duty was to view the body of a suicide at 7 o'clock on the morning of his induction into office, seven hours after midnight.

Placing these two strangely contrasted incidents together and separating them from all others, it would seem to furnish proof that the world is growing better, that the human mind is now turned toward matrimony rather than toward death. A good many people will, however, refuse to believe that this coincidence proves anything and will profanely say that it was the merest accident that the marriage did not occur at the beginning of the justice's term of office and the suicide afterward. It is unnecessary to state that persons who offer this suggestion are pessimists and old bachelors.

Blaine's Condition.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Mr. Blaine's condition is reported today as unchanged since yesterday. At 8 o'clock this evening Dr. Johnston said Blaine was a trifle better.

Cheap Improvements.

There are some cheap things that are greatly to be desired. For instance, it will cost very little to make our sidewalks the place to walk in comfort. Let a stranger try to walk down some of our sidewalks of a dark night, and he will realize several difficulties. If he wears glasses he is apt to have some neglected hedge thorn pull them off. His hat is continually being raked by bushes. His face may become scratched as if he had had a fight with a Kilkenny cat. We are told that a Denver crowd of capitalists is to arrive in a special car in about two weeks. One thing the Denverites justly pride themselves upon is their charming, park-like streets, their elegantly paved sidewalks, their well shaded trees trimmed up about 12 feet. The thing that will give these investors and sight-seers in Phoenix the most unpleasant impression will be the bushy, ragged, careless condition of the trees and bushes in front of some of our lots. Cannot we arouse ourselves and alter these conditions at least by trimming the hedges and trees, and grubbing up the thorns and bushes from the sidewalks? A very little expended in this way will make a vast improvement.

ON THE RUN.

Four Runaways Yesterday Afternoon

Within Less Than Half an Hour.

The Characteristics, Total Destruction and no Fatalities.

The Horses Leave the Accumulated Wreck of Vehicles Piled in Front of a Repair Shop.

Yesterday was a gala day among Phoenix horses. Within half an hour there were four more or less disastrous runaways on Washington street within a distance of four blocks. In each case the ruin was nearly complete but singularly there were no fatalities.

About 4 o'clock a spirited team driven by Samuel Snead got beyond his control on east Washington street and dashed furiously down the street. Near Cortez they turned toward the side walk and ran astride an electric car line pole. The concussion was so great that the horses were freed from the wagon and Mr. Snead was thrown violently over the dashboard striking upon his head in the stone gutter. He was severely cut on his forehead and bled profusely, but retained consciousness. He was soon after taken home and last night was resting easily.

Ten minutes later the driver of a wagon belonging to the Singer Sewing Machine company were left his team alone for a moment near Smith's undertaking establishment. That moment was long enough and the horses started up the street swift as a shot. In front of the Vendome they collided with a buggy driven by J. K. Glassford. The violence of the collision knocked the buggy out from under the top, which fell into the street near the point of collision. Mr. Glassford, the wheels and the box of his buggy were hopelessly mixed up with the runaways and carried along.

A few rods further on Mr. Glassford was dropped, but the buggy was taken on. That gentleman was singularly only slightly injured, and he gathered himself up and inquired what kind of an accident it was and who, if anyone, was responsible. The top of his buggy was all he could see, but there wasn't enough of the rest of it left to excite comment or attract attention.

In front of Marshall's wagon shop the horses detached themselves from the wagon and buggy, leaving the vehicles piled up in the street, apparently for repairs.

They next overtook Dr. Helm and T. A. Jobs, ran into the rig, overturned it, throwing both gentlemen out. Mr. Jobs received slight scratches, but Dr. Helm was severely injured and rendered helpless. He was carried to the Williams house and afterward removed to his home. His back was severely wrenched and last night was confined to his room, but fortunately his injuries were not serious.

All the horses in these scurrillous runaways were more or less seriously hurt and the vehicles were a sight.

A coincidence attending these runaways was that when Dr. Helm was overturned he was on his way from the residence of Mr. Snead, who had himself been similarly injured less than half an hour before.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The prisoners of the county jail were yesterday turned over to Sheriff-elect Murphy, who will assume complete management of the sheriff's office on Tuesday morning.

The third is usually supposed to be the charm, but it isn't always, as was shown by the absence of any business in police court yesterday. The third day failed to break the current of dullness.

The motion for a change of venue in the Kibbey case was called yesterday in district court. On account of the absence of Judge Barnes the arguments in the case were postponed until next Tuesday.

Frank Mayor yesterday bought a half interest in the wholesale liquor business of E. Ganz, and the firm name is now changed to Ganz & Mayor. Articles of incorporation of the new company will be filed in a few days.

The public schools will open next Tuesday morning instead of on Monday. The latter day is recognized in Arizona this year as a legal holiday on the principle that holidays cannot overlap, which is but another form of the well known physical axiom that two bodies cannot occupy the same position at the same time.

Cost of a Strike.

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 31.—A statement has been prepared showing that it cost the state $21,459 to suppress the Coeur d'Alene riots.

AN INNOVATION

Introduced by The Republican Carriers This Morning.

The carriers of THE REPUBLICAN will this morning extend to their patrons the compliments of the season in the form of a New Year's address, and any substantial recognition on the part of the subscribers will no doubt be duly appreciated. The little fellows have been faithful and have done their best to please their customers. The distribution of New Year's addresses is an innovation in Phoenix, though it is a long established custom in eastern cities. The gift of the subscriber is usually measured by his appreciation of the carrier and by the amount which he believes he can spare for this purpose. He is of course under no pecuniary obligation to the boy for the address, but he was once a boy himself and he remembers the value of a pleasing recognition of faithful service. Beside, it is a beautiful custom, advantageous to both sides and makes the boy at any rate, feel that the new year is mighty bright at the start, anyhow.

WILL A HOTEL PAY?

A Question Satisfactorily Answered Yesterday.

If two or three of the heavier capitalists in the city took as cheerful a view of the profits to be derived from a good hotel business as Robert Williams, of Florence, and G. H. N. Luhrs, of the Commercial, it would be a very short time until at least one of the hotel projects now under consideration would be carried into execution.

Yesterday Judge Israel, representing Mr. Williams, offered Mr. Luhrs $10,000 spot cash for a year's lease of the Commercial. The offer was refused without consideration when it was put into another form. Mr. Luhrs was offered $1,000 a month for one year, the money payable in advance. This was also refused.

A great many gentlemen of capital in Phoenix have expressed their willingness to invest money in a hotel if they could be assured that the business would pay a respectable dividend. This offer of Mr. Williams' and its rejection by Mr. Luhrs, both men of experience, ought to satisfy the most timid that a hotel will pay. They have expressed their faith in earnest language and Mr. Luhrs is certainly in a position to know whether or not his faith is well grounded.

DEWEY WINS.

Final Count of the World's Fair Vote.

Close of a Six Month's Contest for a Princely Prize Which Attached Territorial Interest.

THE REPUBLICAN'S World's Fair contest is at an end, closing last night under the condition announced at its inception six months ago. The winner of the prize is Mr. Jay Dewey, a popular salesman of the hardware firm of Talbott & Hubbard. The interest has not been confined to Phoenix but has spread throughout the territory as well it might for the prize is worthy. Mr. Dewey's prize, not only of itself, but as an evidence of his popularity, makes him a subject of congratulation.

The following is the vote:

A New Strong F

Mr. Frank Mayor purchased a half interest in an old established firm and from now on known as that of Ganz new partner, Mr. Mayor well known, not only throughout the territory, mention of him is really. He bears an enviable reputation as a business man.

He is probably better cattleman and was the first to the California market as the alfalfa of the Salt R. Being one of the pioneer of the territory and having still large interest in that business done as much probably as man to develop that industry a year ago he purchased an in the Palace saloon, the firm which became F. Mayor & Co.

Mr. Mayor made many friends his connection with the Palace made considerable money. He his interest two weeks ago.

His friend, who feared that his out of business at that time, was he was going to leave the city highly pleased and surprised when they learned that he had needed himself with on stable institutions of the v
